But again this mysterious change of heart took place. This same musician, ever anxious to help, was last heard lambasting the whole idea as "just a publicity stunt"; it was going to be "nothing but a gang of people yelling at the top of their voices." This was, oddly enough, right after he had heard that he was NOT to be a director.

This would imply that the musicians (at least part of them) were persons of small character, but I hasten to assure you that such is persons of small character, but I hasten to assure you that such is not the case. It was 'pile on stack' with little Gary Eugene Summers under the bottom of the heap of gifts showered on hi mby old friends ind new, when the northside lad elebrated his thirteenth birthday, Thursday, Feb. 13. A sixth grade pupil at School 87, and grandson of Mrs. Dora Cole, 2307 Northwestern ave., Gary had paid little attention to birthday celebrations.

During the last ten years a domestic tragedy robbed him, of his mother and tore his father and brother Robert from him. But Gary admitted cautiously to members of the Melody Mill Vending Co., operators of juke boxes and radio repair service, that 'a party will be all right, I guess".

Members of the vending firm learned recently that Gary's family was evicted when their residence was sold-that he and his brother now sleep in a basement and that his grandmother is "the guest of warm-hearted friends". The next newspaper to appear in the city was founded by Edward E. Cooper, deceased about 1887, this paper being taken over by the late George L. Knox and published until about 1927. The Indianapolis Recorder was founded by the late George P. Stewart in 1896. He died in 1924 and succeeded by his son, Marcus C. Stewart, the present editor. For a number of years following the founding of The Recorder, Will H. Porter, a local practicing attorney was associated with Mr. Stewart as co-publisher of The Recorder.

Mr. Porter has been prominent in fraternal, civic and political affairs of the city and state for near a half century. Before beginning the practice of law, he was a Civil Service Examiner in the local U. S.

Post Office. The Indianapolis Ledger was foundedd by the late John Howard in 1911 and was published as a vigilant and colorful naner for over a quarter of a century. Following the death of Mr. Howard, William H. Jackson was editor of the "Leldger" up to the time it ceased publication in 1926. Mr. Jackson was a colorful figure in Indiana politics for near a half century.

prepared to embrace all its opportunities. However, Negro editors or publishers of the Hoosier state must rightfully be accorded a place among "the Trail Blazers" in Negro journalism. The host of these has extended from East to West and from North to South

Today there are 300 Negro newspapers and periodicals of various degrees of significance in their field. The combined circulation of 155 Negro newspapers was near 1,500,000 in 1944. Better prepared people are continually entering the field to serve papers already established or start new papers in keeping with the suggestion of the editor of the New York "Sun." William Hodges, who was associated with Frederick Douglass in publishing the "Rams' Horn" was told by the editor of the "Sun" that the "Sun shone for all white men and not for colored men.'

The editor further suggested that Hodges operate his own paper if he desired to fight for the cause of the American Negro. Today, about 155 newspapers are carrying on the challenge issued to Hodges by the editor of the New York "Sun" more than a century ago, and about 25 or more enjoy some degree of national renown. Several have gained international renown. Since the days of John Russworm, who founded the first Negro newspaper, "Freedom's Journal," in March 5, 1827, the Negro Press has taken on the resourceful and effective proportions of the great American newspaper. Generally those numbered at the top of this group are the Afro-American newspapers of Baltimore, the Pittsburgh Courier, the Chicago Defendrr, the Atlanta Daily World, the Kansas City Call (Mo.), the Norfolk Journal and Guide, The Indianapolis Recorder, the New York Amsterdam News, the Philadelphia Tribune, the Houston Informer newspapers, the California Eagle, Los Angeles; the Los Angeles Sentinel, the Cleveland Call-Post, the Louisville Defender, the Detroit Tribune, and the Michigan Chronicle (Detroit).

SCHOOL BOARD ISSUES A "KU KLUX KLAN" STATEMENT

The document issued by the Indianapolis Board of School Commissioners, before the House Education Committee of the Indiana General Assembly last week, was as shocking to decent-minded citizens as a handbill of the Ku Klux Klan.

Offered in opposition to the Fortune-Grant Bill for racial democracy in education, the School Board's statement set a new low for utterances of public bodies in Northern states. It was on an exact parallel with the action of the Georgia legislature in passing the "white primary" bill.

The statement was a thinly-disguised appeal to backward, race-hating elements in the population, seeking to enlist them in the fanatical fight against democratic education. On the basis of this statement, the first persons against whom the Anti-Hate Law should be invoked are the members of the Indianapolis School Board. Their methods of spreading prejudice are not so crude as those of the KKK, but they are even more

The parent who considers that these men and women have charge of education of the children of Indianapolis. must shudder—and then must resolve that this thing has gone far enough! The statement volunteered by the School Board - an elected body of public servants—was thrown directly in the face of the rising movement for the improvement of race relations in our city and state. It represented a challenge to all those Americans who believe in the ideals for which World War II was fought.

The challenge must be accepted by the people. For if the arguments advanced in this document are allowed to prevail, the forward march of democracy will be at an end in every phase of civic life.

An examination of the School Board document reveals the depths of Nazi-like prejudice, doubtful logic and outright distortion of facts to which the board descended, in its shameful effort to perpetuate jimcrow schools.

"Without the authority to designate which school pupils shall attend, it would be impossible for the board to organize and administer the schools on an efficient, orderly and economical basis," declares the statement.

This argument of "efficiency" was played up in the daily press, but it has absolutely nothing to do with the case, and is patently dishonest. THERE IS NOT ONE WORD IN THE BILL interfering with the School Board's authority to designate which schools pupils shall attend! - except that such designations shall not be made on the basis of race.

location, capacity of the school, etc.

knew of this provision, but perhaps the Board reasoned that across the city to jimcrow schools every day-passing num- es what it practices." erous "white" schools on the way-if a school-child instead of a school commissioner should advance this argument, we are certain he would fail to pass.

Moreover-since it is "impossible" for the Board to ad minister schools without the jimcrow rule, we believe that the school systems of New York, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and numerous other large cities should be immediately notified, for they have been doing it for years! And a word of warning should be sent to the school board of Gary, which is now preparing to inaugurate this "impossible" system of sending the child to the school nearest his home.

The Board's statement continues: "The removal . . . of this right of control could cause the immediate need for large capital outlays to increase the facilities of schools which would be overcrowded and could at the same fime force the abandonment of serviceable buildings where the number of pupils might be reduced."

and gentlemen of the School Board, when jimcrow is abolished, you will still have the same number of pupils and the operation the technique of inculcating democratic ideals into same number of schoolrooms, do you understand? It will our youngest prospects—the children. be necessary only to rearrange the assignment of pupils, sending them in most cases to the schools nearest their

And any temporary expense, of course, would be quickly made up by the substantial amounts the schools would save by not transporting Negro children across town every day. The Board continues with a paragraph that reads like a quotation from Bilbo: "The question of segregation in the public schools involves many factors of community-wide significance, It cannot be considered wisely without reference to current local practices in race relations in business and industrial life, in religious and fraternal organizations, recreational and character-building agencies, and in neighborhood relationships."

Do you see what we have come to, fellow-Americans? One hand washes the other. Because we have unfair employment practices, therefore we must have discriminating restaurants; because of the restaurants we must have lilywhite hotels; because of the hotels we must have "whites only" operating streetcars and patronizing Riverside Park; and because of all these, we must have jimcrow schools.

The U.S. Constitution, the Atlantic Charter, the Four Freedoms, the Constitution of Indiana, the State Civil Rights Law? Yes, the Sermon on the Mount? These, it appears, are not "current local practices."

THIS IS THE LOGIC OF HITLER!

It is also, of course, a gross slander of many local organizations and individuals of all walks of life, who do not practice the School Board's philosophy-and to whom this philosophy is an abomination.

The Board's statement continues with a detailed listing of the Negro teachers, administrators, etc., now employed in the city schools. It notes without elaboration that "many of these teachers are entitled to indefinite contracts under the teacher tenure law of Indiana." What point all this is supposed to prove, is unclear. Whether it is designed to frighten the Negro teachers, or to frighten the white parents with the prospect of Negro teachers, or for some other purpose, the reader must decide for

The Board of School Commissioners is an elective body, subject to primaries and general elections this year. The candidates run on a non-partisan basis. Following the statement of "KKK philosophy" issued by the School Board last week, it is certain that democratic-minded candidates will be entered in opposition to commissioners of this type. All who value freedom must work as never before for the election of a decent School Board.

"THE BOND OF HUMAN SYMPATHY"

"The strongest bond of human sympathy, outside of the family relation, should be one of uniting all working people, of all nations and tongues and kindreds."-(Abraham Lincoln, from a reply to a committee from the New York Workingmen's Association, March 21, 1864.)

For the skeptics it must be remembered that the spirit or vision of Mr. Lincoln as noted herein or heretofore "actually" exists no place in our land in either temporal or spiritual things. The CIO lays claim to approaching such goals.

Following its records or objectives we find that the CIO Committee to Abolish Discrimination says, " . . . The closer we move toward achieving the goal of making our 'moral creed' correspond to 'reality' the more bitterly will the resistance manifest itself."

Somehow and somewhere workers of the land are "catching up" with Mr. Lincoln's vision of yesterday and are slowly unburdening themselves of fallacious traditions of other times. In this connection the CIO Committee to Abolish Discrimination states as follows:

WANTED: A REVISED VERSION OF INTERRACIAL

CONCUBINAGE

There is no aspect of race relations so flagrantly abused as concubinage, once so characteristic of the old south. The mulatto is taken for granted in our American social ideologies. Too long have the "writers" presupposed that everything about concubinage was offensive and dirty and ugly and

low. Negroes have generally presupposed that every Negro woman was 'forced', and the whites have presupposed practically the same thing about the white men in question. In short, Negroes have generally exonerated the Negro woman and the whites have generally winked at the peculations of the white man. There is never any intimation that there was actual love between these white men and their Negro concubines; and if love is not a mitigating circumstance.

I personally know of cases where the Negro woman had no other husband or the white man any other wife, and where there are no such circumstan-

within the limits of the brutal legalizations which kept in many cases true lovers apart, there were real displays of genuine love and affection When a man leaves his entire fortune to the woman and children with whom he spent the happiest days of his life, it is difficult to see anything but real true affection.

When these persons were kept apart by law, forced to live in a state of concubinage. it was the law that was at fault rather than they themselves. All laws and pomp and circumstance have crumbled before the onslaught of true love and to presuppose that there was never love in these concubinage affairs is to discount the fundamental principles of human association.

One of the most detestable things about "Strange Fruit" was this self-same presupposition that white men may consort with Negro women but never love them! One of the most reprehensible implications of treatment of this work is the fact that in all his dealings with Nonnie Anderson, her white paramour never once said he loved her. Like the plot in the opera, "Madam Butterfly," Strange Fruit overlooks the possibility of interracial love which in practice is often too apparent. This article is inspired by what I recently saw in one of our largest cities. I turned to a shoe-shine parlor for a shine. It was small and very unpretentious. There were only two chairs and these were being served by a Negro and his wife, who was a blue-eyed blond white woman. She was not of the noisy, swearing type, addicted to drunkenness. woman was as lady-like as any I have known. She was polite and pleasant and gave a good shine for the money.

So strange was the phenomenon I afterwards began to make inquiries, perchance to unearth some secret of sociological importance. What I found amounted to the general concensus that this couple was of the highest reputation for industry and thrift; that this woman was genuinely white and had worked at this man's side for many years; that they made a good honest living and had the respect of all who knew them and were served by them. They were just a fine couple, and that is all!

It is too generally supposed that when a white woman marries a Negro she marries him for his money. This belief gained currency when Jack Johnson took unto himself a white wife when in his pugilistic glory. But in the case cited here there was no money. This Negro had nothing to offer this white woman but love and a place at his side in a shoe-shine parlor. There are a hundred things such white women could do for a living far better than that offered in a shoe-shine parlor. There are white men and Negro men who could lavish money upon her. But her husband is just an ordinary hard-working man at a humbie occupation.

This woman is willing to share with him his humble lot. What is this if it is not love? Upon what basis could this unusual phenomenon be explained except upon the basis of true love? Does this case not demand a revision of the old traditional belief that only the lower class white woman wants a Negro and then he must have money and influ-

There are thousands of fine women of both races who would disdain the very thought of marrying a boot-black who had nothing to offer except his love and a place at his side as co-boot-black. Yet this white woman is doing it with a smile. Love is not yet a thing of the past!

THE TROUBLE WITH THIS TOWN, there is no place One hears this statement all around town. This statement seems to me an unreasonable excuse for not patronizing local nite spots, restaurants and public dances and concerts. The above statement is a flimsy excuse for not cooperating with local business men who dare to open pleasure emporiums at a terrific cost. . . On every hand, one hears the statement that - "Man, I'm going to stock up my private bar, and invite my friends over for Sattiday and Sunday. This of course seems to be a smart way to entertain among the upper (?) crust, therefore leaving our best entertainment and pleasure spots suffering because of a lack of patronage.

Naptown has some of the best decorated taverns in the country. To our way of thinking, The British Lounge, Ritz. Ferguson's, Marquis, Cotton Club and the new spot in the Anderson hotel stack up with any we have seen, with only a few exceptions. These places would be swankier if the elite of the town would condescend to visit them once in a while. . The same holds true with our restaurants and hotels. Our hotels are given a bad name or called "assignation" houses only because these very same people absolutely refuse to recommend them to their visiting friends and acquaintances. . Negro hotels and restaurants would offer better service if they were sure of the public's support. This they know they cult with its mystic arts, but she years a big change seems to come cannot get, because of the "mouthings" of certain groups for not perhaps—maybe—a little somea nopportunity to eat and drink and sleep in ofay spots down- thing in the "lucky seven" theo- ance at the age of seven. If Negroes were free to go to any church, Y, school or ing with Laird Cregar and George I'm hoping the next seven years what not, we hesitate to think what would happen to our preachers, teachers and social workers. The incentive for young Negroes to enter business would be gone and Negro business would vanish over night. It is not unusual to hear a housewife state openly that she does not trade with Negro merchants, that she spends her money at such-and-such a super market. Or listen to some Negro who makes his living off of Negroes bragging about eating at some downtown spot. Already the Grays have taken over in our neighborhoods, and if we all start soing downtown for our food, drinks and recre- rent jukebox and radio sensation, his RCA Victor recording arrangeations, God help our Negro business men.

It seems to me that these same groups who are constantly bellowing about eating with Grays could accomplish much more if they were to put forth the same effort in behalf of Negro business or the forming of cooperatives among us. This it seems to me would be more beneficial to the group than eating in a cheap of ay restaurant. The things we need less seems to be the things we holler the loudest for. Why not fight for more jobs in GROCERY STORES in our districts? It seems in the show.
